Ikens for Sherriff Wins Only Contest in County

DEFEATS LINSDAY ON REPUBLICAN TICKET 1499 to 1151

In the only contest for county offices Sheriff Floyd W. Ikens defeated Gilbert M. Lindsay for nomination on the Republican ticket, 1,499 to 1,151.

In the contest for state representative to the state legislature from Charlevoix district which includes Charlevoix, Benzie and Leelanau counties, Incumbent Louis E. Anderson won the nomination over two newcomers, Charlevoix's Mayor John Knight and Forrest Brown. Anderson polled 2,481 votes, Knight 2,113 and Brown 1,167.

Nominated for county offices without opposition were F. Bulow, clerk; C. M. Bice, prosecutor; Rex Davis, register of deeds; Lillis M. Flanders treasurer; Mary C. Feindt, surveyor; Dr. L. E. Grate and James Stackus, coroners.

Republicans Pick Alger, Potter, Reid

Michigan voters decreed Tuesday it will be Alger-Potter-Reid against Williams-Moody, Connolly in the November general election.

Rebublican voters picked Fred M. Alger Jr., of Grossee Pointe, heir to a lumber fortune, to meet the democrats' unopposed choice, Gov. Williams of Grosse Pointe, heir to a soap and pickle fortune.

They chose an unassuming northern Michigan congressman, Charles E. Potter of Cheboygan, to go up against Sen. Moody of Detroit and Washington, who won his party primary hands down in his first appearance before the voters.

Delinquent Land May Be Re-claimed

1948 OWNERS MUST PAY BEFORE NOVEMBER 4th.

Former owners of land, which has been deeded to the state because of tax delinquency, still can pay back taxes and recover the property under a little known and comparatively recent state law.

Owners of land delinquent for the 1948 tax must act not later than November 4, when recovery period expires. Land tax delinquent prior to 1948 and deeded to the state cannot be recovered in this manner.

Since 1951, when Act 167 became effective, the department reconveyed 343 lots and about 1,100 acres to former owners of land which had reverted because of nonpayment of 1947 taxes.

The former owner first should determine if the land actually has been deeded to the state. Does he have a 1948 tax receipt? If he cannot produce a receipt, and he is in doubt as to the tax status of the land, the county treasurer can clear the picture for him.

Should the land be tax delinquent and deeded to the state, he can go to any municipal governmental unit by November 4, and request a resolution that the property be withheld from state sale. With this resolution, the county treasurer is authorized to collect the back taxes, with interest, and make a report to the state auditor general. After the tax record has been cleared, the conservation department then will execute a deed to the applicant which will reinstate the owner's interests as existed prior to the deeding to the state.

By means of this new deed the applicant cannot "improve" his former title, the repartment notes.

Elk Have Disease or Deficiency

Two more elk, both suffering from the disease or deficiency that has plagued Michigan's herd for years, have been taken near Gaylord by conservation department authorities.

Both are cows, each about two years old. The first died shortly after capture. The second is in a weakened condition.

The dead elk will be autopied; the live one taken to the department's East Lansing laboratory at Michigan State College for study.

A third elk, a yearling bull, already is under observation at the laboratory. It was captured near Gaylord some weeks ago, in a weakened condition.

Many such elk have been of the unsolved riddle that leaves them weak, without fear of humans, and in some cases, blind.

"Don't Cross The Yellow Line"

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES AUGUST PROGRAM

Charles M. Ziegler announces the opening of the August statewide safety program aimed at reducing traffic accidents which are the result of unlawful and dangerous passing.

The State Safety Commission, is using two slogans: 'Dan't Cross the Yellow Line' for drivers using the highways, and 'Keep in Line--Don't Cut In' for drivers using city streets.

Passing on hills and curves is one of the most dangerous things a motorist can do, according to Commissioner Zeigler. In commenting on these hazards he said, 'The State Highway Department reduced to a point where it is has painted yellow lines on hills and curves where the visibility is dangerous to pass. These yellow lines are provided as a safety service to motorists. Since they are placed by careful engineering survey they are in accordance with the law and it is not only dangerous, but unlawful, to cross the yellow line."

As a further warning to motorists the State Highway Department has erected 150 safety poster boards at strategic places along the highway system. These boards carry the slogan "don't Cross the Yellow Line."

The Safety Commission has prepared radio platters in cooperation with the Michigan Broadcasters Association and motion picture trailers for use throughout the state in an all-out effort to urge motorists to drive more safely.

Find Death Cause Bury Dead Animals

When you are in doubt about the cause of death of livestock on your farm, have an accurate diagnosis made by a veterinarian before burying the carcass, advises Dr. Glen Reed, Michigan State College extension veterinarian.

Dr. Reed has some other suggestions for reducing the spread of livestock diseases. He advises against having the rendering truck drive onto your farm to pick up the carcass of an animal if it can be avoided. Instead, every farm should have a vehicle for moving dead animals.

This precaution is aimed at preventing the introduction of disease organisms to the farm. Dr. Reed also warned against dragging a dead animal across a barnyard.

No matter what you think caused the death, don't feed dead animals to other animals, the Michigan State College extension Veterinarian warned. He also urged extreme care with aborted feti, dead pigs and dead chickens. Dead animals should never be thrown into a ditch or along a roadside.

The surest way to prevent the spread of disease is to get an accurate diagnosis when in doubt, then burn the carcass or bury it. In the case of anthrax, bury the carcass at least six feet deep or burn it.

Cyclists Off To Minnesota

Parker Seiler of East Jordan and Lyn Neal of Mt. Pleasant left Wednesday on a 1,500 mile bicycle tour through Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa.

The young men had planned to be the first to pedal from the United States to Alaska but Canadian highway authorities recently put a damper on their hopes.

"Although denied permission to cycle on the Alcan Highway this summer, we plan to try again next spring," Parker stated.

The two cycling enthusiasts have been riding their English lightweight bikes since April, 1950 and have pedaled more the 12,000 miles through 21 states, Canada and Mexico.

Seiler left East Jordan Tuesday for a rendesvous with Neal at Mt. Pleasant from there the pair will strike out northward. Picturesque Mackinac Island, beautiful Keweenaw Peninsula, Minnesota's twin cities, Iowa's Effigy Mounds National Monument and the famed Wisconsin Dells are some of the probable highlights of the three week tour.

"On a trip of this type," said Neal, "we have just a general idea where we are going and how long we will be gone. We enjoy the freedom of picking our route and deciding our daily destinations as we go along."

Perhaps the most frequent question asked the cyclist is "How far do you travel in a day?" The answer depends upon the weather, the rain and other factors. On a leisurely trip they ride about 6 hours and average 75 or 80 miles. During a 'race' from Los Angeles to New York City in 1951 Neal and Seiler averaged nearly 115 miles to cover the 2,922 miles in slightly more than 25 days. The record, however, is 20 days and was set by Gene McPherson of Ohio State University.

Carrying blankets and a nylon tent, the pedalers will camp in state parks or other convenient spots along the way. Their food bill is relatively low since the boys eat picnic style, lunching on 6 quarts of milk a day, peanut butter and cheese sandwiches, beans, lettuce and fruit. When no friends or kin happen to live near their route they occasionally stop in a restaurant for a hot meal.

"We don't know just what our cycling adventures may lead to," explained Seiler, "but we have discovered that bicyling is a healthy, inexpensive and unique means of touring our wonderful countrysides."

When the journey is concluded Neal plans to teach in Muskegon and Seiler has employment in Milwaukee.

Plenty of Weather in July

July was another month with more than usual rain and silightly higher temperature, not to mention several severe wind and rain storms that damaged tree fruits and standing grain.

The average maximum temperture for the month was 82.35, and average mimium was 59.6, with a mean of 71.47, which is 2.37 degrees above a 25 year average.

The rainfall for the month was 5.80 inches, against an average of 2.51, or a plus of 3.29 inches. Rainfall over the northern counties have more than in East Jordan.

Lake levels have not receded in July, as we predicted last spring. Since the high water level of Lake Superior was causing trouble to dockage and shipping, the control gates at the Soo were lowered quite drastically about July 30, this dumping millions of gallons of water into the upper Lake Michigan and Lake Huron area. If the June & July above average rainfall continues thru August, these two factors will cause the present, or higher, levels to continue. If present levels continue thru the winter, many shore properties will be damaged by ice. Ice pressure, due to the expansion of the ice field, will uproot hundreds of trees.

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange

Meets with Wilson Grange August 12.

It will be called to order at 8:00 p.m. Pot Luck supper after the meeting.

The farmer is beginning to think about politics and new farm programs and will hear a lot of talk on this subject before November 4th.

A. J. Wangeman Killed By Auto

WAS FORMER RESIDENT NEAR EAST JORDAN

Alfred J. Wangeman, 44, of Lansing, was killed and his wife and daughter injured Tuesday morning when their automobile glanced off a truck and skidded against a tree beside US16 about five miles east of Cascade.

Mrs. Margaret Wageman, 38, was was thrown from the car as it hit the tree, suffered a right leg fractures and possible internal injuries. She was reported in serious condition at Butterworth hospital. The couple's daughter Carol, 12, suffered minor head injuries and a nose fracture and was reported in good condition.

Dr. James C. Humphrey, medical examiner, attributed Wangeman's death to a skull fracture.

Officers said Wageman's car, goin west on US16, glanced off the left front fender and bumper of a westbound Kent county road commission truck and skidded sidewise along the highway and shoulder about 50 feet, hitting a tree. Wangeman was pinned in the wrecked auto.

Wangeman, building construction superintendent for the state, was enroute to Grand Rapids. He had been a state employee since his discharge from the army, in which he served five years, in 1945.

He was a native of East Jordan and had been a Lansing resident the last seven years. Following graduation in 1931 from the University of Michigan, he had been employed by the civilian works administration, the civilian construction corps and works progress administration of the federal government.

Funeral services are being held this Thursday afternoon at the Estes Funeral Home, Lansing.

He graducted from the East Jordan High School with the Class of 1924.

Homemakers' Corner

Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

HOMEMAKERS REPORT THE HIGHLIGHTS OF ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Hands-across-the-border is a habit with Michigan home demonstration group women. At Homemakers' Conference held recently at Michigan State College, they continued their custom by voting to send $200 to Okinawa to assist college girls there to continue their home economics education.

Miss Eleanor Densmore, Kent county home demonstration agent, who has been in Okinawa for the past year, gave a report to the 1,400 women gathered for the 25th annual conference. She encouraged their assistance at the University of the Ryukus where she will return in late August to continue her work for another year. She is part of a five-person mission in Okinawa from Michigan State College.

As part of their international mindedness, Mrs. W. S. Hamilton of Jackson, state pen pal chairman, announced that 652 members of Michigan home demonstration groups are writing to women in other counties offering encouragement and, in many cases, food and clothing.

Last year the Michigan Home Demonstration Council financed the visit of a German girl, Ingeborg Timmler, to Michigan for an eight-month visit. Miss Timmler—known now to Michigan as "Inga"—wrote to the women from Schleswig-Holstein province where she is teaching in an agricultural school.

She wrote, "After being home ten days I started work at the same school, but what a difference there is now. In the time I was in Michigan they built a new school. You American people sent Marshall Plan money and our school is partly built from that money. We now have a very modern kitchen with worksaving machines." Inga reported that she had helped to established a 4-H program in Germany and a specialist training system whereby specialists travel throughout the country teaching home economics to German woman.

Too many eye witnesses usually confuse the story.

Every year seems to produce a larger number of pretty young things.

Michigan voters who practiced at the polls Tuesday will have an even bigger job in November.

For Michigan is a key state in the strategy of both the Republican and Democratic camps.

The Eisenhower forces plan to win the Presidental election by carrying the states that went for Dewey in 1948 and the extra ones that now have Republican governors.

Michigan lined up in the 16 Dewey states to give the Michigan-born governor 186 electoral votes. The states that didn't go for Dewey but did elect GOP governors in the last state elections have 102 electoral votes.

Add those two groups together and you get 288 electoral votes. Two hundred sixty-six mean election.

Michigan figures in the Democratic strategy as one of the eight states where big-city labor strength this dominant. Those states, they figure, will give Stevenson 199 electoral votes.

The rock-ribbed South-which the Dixicrat revolt failed to crack—and the border states should yield 80 electoral votes for a total of 279, 13 more than are needed. So they figure.

That Michigan has a Democratic governor is heralded as a good omen by Adlai's advisors, too.

Obviously there's some overlapping there.

Both parties need Michigan, California, Wisconsin, New York and Maryland to carry out their master plan.

For instance, Ike-men will try to crack the South and aim for shaky Democratice states. The Democrats will try to woo back states-rights areas Truman lost and to retain eight Western states where they've won five consecutive times but whose electoral vots aren't plentiful enough to give them key positions.

Michigan personalities are sure to figure prominently in the campaign, too.

Flint's Arthur E. Summerfield, as chairman of the Republican National Committee, will direct General Ike's overall campaign. Arthur H. Vandenburg Jr., taught the lore of the political arena by his late father, the illustrious Senator, is Eisenhower's executive assistant.

Both were pre-bandwagon Ike supporters, a status that adds to their influence.

Two Michigan men were ofter in the spotlight at the Democratic convention. They were Governor Williams and Senator Blair Moody.

Williams' polka-dot bow tie was familiar long before the demonstration that greeted his favorite-son nomination. Moody practically took over the temporary chairman's job during the opening debate on the "loyalty pledge" rule. In fact, it became known as the "Moody amendment".

That pledge was in part nullified when the convention allowed Virginia, South Carolina and Louisana delegates to participate despite their firm refusal to sign on the dotted line.

Whether Michigan jumped from Kefauver to Stevenson early enough is something for which no stop-watch has ever been invented. Whether the ire Moody arroused among several of his Southern Senatorial Colleagues will continue to smolder is not apparent now. Whether the Stevenson-Sparkman combination represents, as many observers believe, a victory of "conservative" Democrats over the "liberals" head by Williams, Moody and Senator Humphrey of Minnesota is a matter of personal opinion.

Answers to those questions may determine the influence the Michigan duo will have in and after the campaign.

But there's no question that their names are familiar in and out of Democratic circles.

And there's no question about the importance of the decision Michigan voters must make in November.

Michigan business is contributing to a campaign which will be launched thus far to bring new industry into the state. The Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan spent a year in analyzing opinions of Michigan manufacturers on the assets and liabilities of the state as a location for industry as a basis for the drive.

Dixie is drawing industry from Northern states. But there's going to be another war between the Blue and the Gray, this one fought out on sales talks to affected industry. The No'the'ners will use three big weapons: Privately-financed developement corporations to augment work done by state agencies such as the Michigan Department of Economic Developement. More intensive promotion, including greater efforts to develope industry from within; A new atmosphere of cooperation with industry in many Northern industrial centers.

Defeat of the proposed 2% industrial processing tax in the closing days of the Legislature in June removed a threat that might have kept many an industry from coming into Michigan or expanding facilities already here.

Probably the most active parade-participant in Michigan this Summer is the colorful float used by all branches of the state's dairy industry. It shows a golden cow on a mound of brilliant green grass and there is an orate throne on which the community's fairest lassy rides.

It was built by the June Dairy Month committee of the American Dairy Association of Michigan and has already been seen by scores of thousands.

Peak of Annual Meteor Shower Due Aug. 10 or 11

EARTH ENCOUNTERS ANNUAL SWARM OF SHOOTING STARS

With many parts of the nation already seeing strange objects in the skies perhaps it's wise to report now that August will bring with it the annual shower of meteors.

Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, reports that the Perseid shower of meteors will reach its peak around the evenings of August 10 or 11.

"The flashes of light from these shooting stars may be seen in any direction of the sky during the peak period," she points out. "But when you trace back their paths, the meteors seem to follow trails that intersect in the northeastern part of the sky where the constellation Perseus rise about 10 p.m. This fact has accounted for the name of this annual display."

The shower of meteors takes place each year when the earth encounters the swarm of shooting stars as each is making its year-long swing around the sun. Entering the earth's atmosphere at a high rate of speed, the bits of iron and stone that make up a meteor are slowed up and the resulting friction sets them burning at such a high temperature that a brilliant flash is produced in the sky.

Most of these meteors burn themselves out when they enter the earth's atmosphere, although a few frequently fall to the ground.

Besides the meteors, the August sky will be dominated by the Milky Way, that vast mass of stars which stretches across the sky from northeast to the south. The long bar of the Northern Cross is practically at the zenith or midpoint, Prof. Losh says, while the constellations of Scorpius and Sagittarius are at the two southern branches.

The bright planet rising in the east around 11 p.m. will be Jupiter. This planet will far outshine all other objects in the sky and will remain conspicuous in the evening sky for the next few manths, Prof. Losh asserts.

"Coming over the horizon at about the same time at a little to the left of Jupiter is the star cluster of the Pleiades," she reports. "Fashioned in the form of a small dipper, six stars are easily seen but if you have exceptionally keen eyesight you may be able to pick up seven or more."

Hundreds of stars may be counted in this cluster on a photograph taken with a large telescope and the entire group, which is 500 light years away, is caught in a net of nebulous material.

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

Well, What Do You Know?

Do you believe in a bunch of old tales about lightning — about how it's attracted by cats or the warmth of cattle . . . how it never strikes in the same place twice . . . or how it's liable to turn milk sour? Lots of people often do—but they're wrong.

Dad Hawkins inspired this column today. He's really studied up on lightning since his own cow barn was struck that time.

"Trouble is, most of us don't know half enough about the subject," Dad says. "And about half of what we do know is false!"

From where I sit, Dad's statement applies to a lot of things besides lightning. Too many people think they know their neighbor's wrong when he votes for his candidate instead of theirs. Some people even resent our right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer if and when we choose. Opinions based on misinformation and prejudice, instead of being "grounded" on true facts can cause more damage than lightning ever did.

Forest Fires at A Low Ebb.

The smallest weekly forest fires toll since the hazard period started last spring, two blazes damaging five acres, is disclosed by the conservation department.

Latest fire report shows no fires, for the first time in the 1952 hazard season, anywhere above the Bay City-Muskegon line. With much rain, especially in the north, state forest firemen had to put only two fires in the southwestern Plainwell district.

So far this year 899 fires have burned over 5,276 acres.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

Our hot weather has caught cold. We had a heavy rain last night that turned into a cold drizzle today and well succeeded in dampening many a tourist enthusiasm for swimming or lawn tennis.

Bob Vrondron was home on leave last week from Fitzsimmons. He didn't get in to see me but his mother told me today that he was expecting to be discharged in about two more months. Bob went back to the same address, which is Col. Robert E. Vrondron, Upper West, Fitzsimmins Gereral Hospital, Denver, Colorado. I'm sure he'd be glad to hear from some of you men.

Delwin Morris dropped me a card from Fort Devens to give me asmall change in his and Delwins address. It is: Pvts Darwin & Delwin Morris, Co. B, Student Bn, TASATR, 8622 AAU, Fort Devens, Massachusetts. Delwin went on to say, "We are in our third week of school now but can't tell anything about our school or what we do while we are there. We get up at 3:45 a.m., go to school from 6 a.m. to noon and then in the afternoon if there aren't any details we just sleep, go swimming or anything we want to do. When we first got back here. Brock Peacock came and hunted us up one evening and showed us around the camp in his new Chevrolet. Well, it's almost chow time so will close for this time. Anyway we both like our school real well." Thanks for the card, Delwin.

A letter from George Rogers reads, "Here is a smaller address you can use. It isn't so complicated. SFC Alfred G. Rogers, Jr., RA 16 084 387, PO Box 261, Milledgeville, Georgia.

'This is the kind of a job I have been sweating out for over 10 years now. This is a civilian component duty. I applied for for the orders were waiting for me when we came back from the last leave at home. I am to be an instructor here and the cadets I am to teach are of junior college age. However, school doesn't start until September so now we just have paper work to get out and a few requisitions to make up.

'Here at the school we have 2 officers and 4 enlisted men, just a small outfit. I will be able to tell you more later on what kind of a deal it is."

It looks like you've struck it soft, George. I can't say as I can blame you for being happy over it.

Johnny Kershner has left the West Coast and is again with us in the midwest. His new address is A/2C John M. Kershner, 16-333-955, 3310th Tech Tng Gp, Scott AFB, Illinois. In case you're looking for someone from home, John, Ross Nichols can be reached by dropping a card to Post Office Box 445 there at Scott and Lawrence Streeter is still with the 3317 Stu Sqd, Box N3131. Either one of these men, in case you don't already know them, would be glad to make your acquaintance as another man from good old E.J.

Tom Leu had to leave again this last Wednesday, his 10 day leave being just about up. Instead of going back to Edwards AFB in California though he is to report to Lowry, AFB in Colorado where Russell Fyan and Louis Addis are currently in residence. I gave Tom both of your addresses so you may be hearing from him soon. Tom is slated to take a 16 week Weapons Officer course at Lowry after which he will be returned to Edwards in California for further research duty.

Sam Persons was a mighty disapointed young man this past week. He went down to Detroit for examination for the Army and found that he was a half a finger short. You see Sam had a run-in with a dynamite cap back in '45 and it left him short two and a half fingers on one hand. Well, the Army says that they won't take anyone with over two fingers missing on any one hand. Sam felt pretty bad about it but I guess that's Army Regulations for you. They don't make exceptions for anyone — regardless of how sincere they may be.

Here's another article about Bruce Bolser and his ship the USS James C. Owens. We just had one about them last week but I guess the Home Town News Center in Great Lakes is just catching up on some of their back work. Here 'tis: "Destroyer Division 261, on the last lap of its world cruise, which began last January, will return to the United States via the Mediterranean Sea and the Suez Canal. Serving with the division aboard the destroyer USS James C. Owens is Bruce E. Bolser, gunners mate seaman, USN. The Owens entered the Korean combat zone in March. While serving with Task Force 77 there, she bombarded the east coast of North Korea and acted as a screening unit. Crew members of the destroyer have visited Panama, Pearl Harbor, Midway Island and Japan. On her return trip the crew will visit the colony of Singapore."

Bruce, if you get this paper entering the Mediterranean keep a watch out for the USS Diamondhead, and the USS Acilla. Fred Burbank in "C" Division aboard the Diamondheaad and Joe Hammond in the 4th Division aboard the Aucilla are supposed to be in the Mediterrean somewhere. Who knows you men might see each other over there.

Here's some news about two men, who although not fully in the service as yet, wil undoubtedly enter the service when they have finished their college and ROTC courses. Bill Kamradt has been taking ROTC training down and Fort Knox, Kentucky. Recently he has been working with the new Patton '48 tank and firing the 90 millimeter gun aboard it. Bill did right well too and made Expert on this 90 mm on the range. Jim Nachazel is at present taking flight training down in Corpus Christi, Texas. His training includes the actual flying of the huge PBM "Martin Marier", a Navy twin-engine flying boat. Jim will also receive special instruction in the operation of a Fluxgate compass.

I suppose you men noticed the article in last weeks paper about the new men being inducted from this county on this Wednesday. Among them was the name of Jim Lewis. While I don't have an address for Jim as yet I'll be watching for one to pass on to you men.

So Long until next week.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

The fair premium books for the Charlevoix county fair which will be held September 2 to 6 are now ready for distribution, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today. These premium books may be obtained by stopping at any of the farmers coops in the county or by stopping at the County Extension Office at Boyne City and picking them up.

Farmers who are interested in bringing catle to the fair are reminded that animals over 12 months must be Bangs tested and any hogs brought to the fair must be vacciniated. If anyone is planning on bringing cattle or hogs to the fair, please let Ed Rebman know so that arrangements can be made for Bangs testing and vaccination.

Good barn arrangements can reduce the man hours required to care for a dairy animal as much as 50 hours per year, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Less time per animal is required on an average in the loose system as compared to the stanchion barn. However, in a well-arranged stanchion barn a good operator may spend less time in caring for the animals than an operator of a loose housing system where feeding arrangements are poor.

Good barn arrangement includes proper location of the silo and grain storage in relation to feed areas, Rebman points out. In the stanchion barn, feed grain and silage with a cart. Have the feed alleys and doorways wide enough to permit one trip feeding. Back tracking with the feed cart and loading silage into cart by hand, instead of running the cart under the silo chute, requires extra time and energy.

Hay self-feeders are the quickest and easiest way to feed hay. However, another hole in the hay mow floor over the feed area may save a lot of carrying when hay feeding time comes.

Locate the milkhouse as close to the milking area as possible. One corner of the barn is generally a good location for the milkhouse.

A lot of planning should go into the remodeling of a barn before the saw and hammer start to work. Sketch out all the possibilities of remodeling a barn. Then select the best layout, Rebman suggests.

Home-grown lumber, homemade stalls, homemade stanchions, portable gates for pens, and farm labor can keep remodeling costs to a minimum, the agricultural agent says.

A beef tour has been planned for all the members who are raising beef calves for the Charlevoix County Fair, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today. This tour will be held next Monday afternoon, August 11 starting at 1:00 p.m.

The first stop will be at the farm of Archie Murphy at East Jordan at which time considerable discussion will be held regarding fitting and showing of the animal, feeding and care of the animal and other points that are pertinent to good success at the show. Other stops during the afternoon will be at the Shank boys, Jack Zouleks, Donna Schroeders, and Jim Behlings.

PREPARE YOUTH TO MEET GOD

Teach Youth to Attend Church

At all times and in all ages the church has been a strong and mighty battle station against sin and moral decay.

Through its arches and epses and naves has constantly rung the battle cry of soldiers of the cross.

On its aler has always been found the greatest arsenal of sacred ammunition ever entrusted to any race or to any people—The Holy Bible.

The banner of righteousness has flown steadily from the fixed redoubts of quaint and quiet community churches and impressive city edifices alike.

The torch of truth and salvation has been carried with flaming zeal to dismal outposts in distant and strange lands by self-effacing vanguards.

The churches stirring hymns, its reverent litany, its jeweled creed, its holy festivals — all have powerful weapons in the hands of purposeful men determined to see that right makes might. From its pulpit parapets have been sounded continual and courageous challenges to the forces of evil. Truly, the church today is a mighty fortress in the defense of decency. DEFEATS LINSDAY ON REPUBLICAN TICKET 1499 to 1151

In the only contest for county offices Sheriff Floyd W. Ikens defeated Gilbert M. Lindsay for nomination on the Republican ticket, 1,499 to 1,151.

In the contest for state representative to the state legislature from Charlevoix district which includes Charlevoix, Benzie and Leelanau counties, Incumbent Louis E. Anderson won the nomination over two newcomers, Charlevoix's Mayor John Knight and Forrest Brown. Anderson polled 2,431 votes, Knight 2,113 and Brown 1,167.

Nominated for county offices without opposition were F. Bulow, clerk; C. M. Bice, prosecutor; Rex Davis, register of deeds; Lillis M. Flanders treasurer; Mary C. Feindt, surveyor; Dr. L. E. Grate and James Stackus, coroners.

Republicans Pick Alger, Potter, Reid

Michigan voters decreed Tuesday it will be Alger-Potter-Reid against Williams-Moody, Connolly in the November general election.

Rebublican voters picked Fred M. Alger Jr., of Grossee Pointe, heir to a lumber fortune, to meet the democrats' unopposed choice, Gov. Williams of Grosse Pointe, heir to a soap and pickle fortune.

They chose an unassuming northern Michigan congressman, Charles E. Potter of Cheboygan, to go up against Sen. Moody of Detroit and Washington, who won his party primary hands down in his first appearance before the voters.

Delinquent Land May Be Re-claimed

1948 OWNERS MUST PAY BEFORE NOVEMBER 4th.

Former owners of land, which has been deeded to the state because of tax delinquency, still can pay back taxes and recover the property under a little known and comparatively recent state law.

Owners of land delinquent for the 1948 tax must act not later than November 4, when recovery period expires. Land tax delinquent prior to 1948 and deeded to the state cannot be recovered in this manner.

Since 1951, when Act 167 became effective, the department reconveyed 343 lots and about 1,100 acres to former owners of land which had reverted because of nonpayment of 1947 taxes.

The former owner first should determine if the land actually has been deeded to the state. Does he have a 1948 tax receipt? If he cannot produce a receipt, and he is in doubt as to the tax status of the land, the county treasurer can clear the picture for him.

Should the land be tax delinquent and deeded to the state, he can go to any municipal governmental unit by November 4, and request a resolution that the property be withheld from state sale. With this resolution, the county treasurer is authorized to collect the back taxes, with interest, and make a report to the state auditor general. After the tax record has been cleared, the conservation department then will execute a deed to the applicant which will reinstate the owner's interests as existed prior to the deeding to the state.

By means of this new deed the applicant cannot "improve" his former title, the repartment notes.

Elk Have Disease or Deficiency

Two more elk, both suffering from the disease or deficiency that has plagued Michigan's herd for years, have been taken near Gaylord by conservation department authorities.

Both are cows, each about two years old. The first died shortly after capture. The second is in a weakened condition.

The dead elk will be autopied, the live one taken to the department's East Lansing laboratory at Michigan State College for study.

A third elk, a yearling bull, already is under observation at the laboratory. It was captured near Gaylord some weeks ago, in a weakened condition.

Many such elk have been of the unsolved riddle that leaves them weak, without fear of humans, and in some cases, blind.

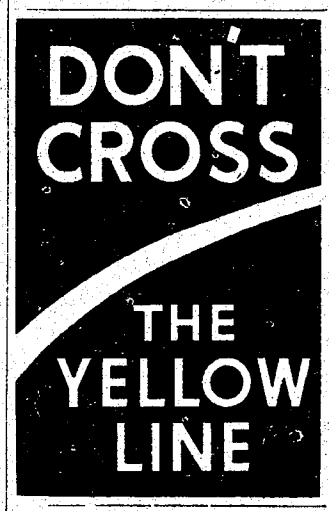

"Don't Cross The Yellow Line"

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES AUGUST PROGRAM

Charles M. Ziegler announces the opening of the August statewide safety program aimed at reducing traffic accidents which are the result of unlawful and dangerous passing.

The State Safety Commission, is using two slogans: 'Dan't Cross the Yellow Line' for drivers using the highways, and 'Keep in Line--Don't Cut In' for drivers using city streets.

Passing on hills and curves is one of the most dangerous things a motorist can do, according to Commissioner Zeigler. In commenting on these hazards he said, 'The State Highway Department reduced to a point where it is has painted yellow lines on hills and curves where the visibility is dangerous to pass. These yellow lines are provided as a safety service to motorists. Since they are placed by careful engineering survey they are in accordance with the law and it is not only dangerous, but unlawful, to cross the yellow line."

As a further warning to motorists the State Highway Department has erected 150 safety poster boards at strategic places along the highway system. These boards carry the slogan "don't Cross the Yellow Line."

The Safety Commission has prepared radio platters in cooperation with the Michigan Broadcasters Association and motion picture trailers for use throughout the state in an all-out effort to urge motorists to drive more safely.

Find Death Cause Bury Dead Animals

When you are in doubt about the cause of death of livestock on your farm, have an accurate diagnosis made by a veterinarian before burying the carcass, advises Dr. Glen Reed, Michigan State College extension veterinarian.

Dr. Reed has some other suggestions for reducing the spread of livestock diseases. He advises against having the rendering truck drive onto your farm to pick up the carcass of an animal if it can be avoided. Instead, every farm should have a vehicle for moving dead animals.

This precaution is aimed at preventing the introduction of disease organisms to the farm. Dr. Reed also warned against dragging a dead animal across a barnyard.

No matter what you think caused the death, don't feed dead animals to other animals, the Michigan State College extension Veterinarian warned. He also urged extreme care with aborted feti, dead pigs and dead chickens. Dead animals should never be thrown into a ditch or along a roadside.

The surest way to prevent the spread of disease is to get an accurate diagnosis when in doubt, then burn the carcass or bury it. In the case of anthrax, bury the carcass at least six feet deep or burn it.

Cyclists Off To Minnesota

Parker Seiler of East Jordan and Lyn Neal of Mt. Pleasant left Wednesday on a 1,500 mile bicycle tour through Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa.

The young men had planned to be the first to pedal from the United States to Alaska but Canadian highway authorities recently put a damper on their hopes.

"Although denied permission to cycle on the Alcan Highway, this summer, we plan to try again next spring," Parker stated.

The two cycling enthusiasts have been riding their English lightweight bikes since April, 1950 and have pedaled more the 12,000 miles through 21 states, Canada and Mexico.

Seiler left East Jordan Tuesday for a rendesvous with Neal at Mt. Pleasant from there the pair will strike out northward. Pictureque Mackinac Island, beautiful Keweenaw Peninsula, Minnesota's twin cities, Iowa's Effigy Mounds National Monument and the famed Wisconsin Dells are some of the probable highlights of the three week tour.

"On a trip of this type," said Neal, "we have just a general idea where we are going and how long we will be gone. We enjoy the freedom of picking our route and deciding our daily destinations as we go along."

Perhaps the most frequent question asked the cyclist is "How far do you travel in a day?" The answer depends upon the weather, the rain and other factors. On a leisurely trip they ride about 6 hours and average 75 or 80 miles. During a 'race' from Los Angeles to New York City in 1951 Neal and Seiler averaged nearly 115 miles to cover the 2,922 miles in slightly more than 25 days. The record, however, is 20 days and was set by Gene McPherson of Ohio State University.

Carrying blankets and a nylon tent, the pedalers will camp in state parks or other convenient spots along the way. Their food bill is relatively low since the boys eat picnic style, lunching on 6 quarts of milk a day, peanut butter and cheese sandwiches, beans, lettuce and fruit. When no friends or kin happen to live near their route they occasionally stop in a restaurant for a hot meal.

"We don't know just what our cycling adventures may lead to," explained Seiler, "but we have discovered that bicyling is a healthy, inexpensive and unique means of touring our wonderful countrysides."

When the journey is concluded Neal plans to teach in Muskegon and Seiler has employment in Milwaukee.

Plenty of Weather in July

July was another month with more than usual rain and silightly higher temperature, not to mention several severe wind and rain storms that damaged tree fruits and standing grain.

The average maximum temperture for the month was 82.35, and average mimium was 59.6, with a mean of 71.47, which is 2.37 degrees above a 25 year average.

The rainfall for the month was 5.80 inches, against an average of 2.51, or a plus of 3.29 inches. Rainfall over the northern counties have more than in East Jordan.

Lake levels have not receded in July, as we predicted last spring. Since the high water level of Lake Superior was causing trouble to dockage and shipping, the control gates at the Soo were lowered quite drastically about July 30, this dumping millions of gallons of water into the upper Lake Michigan and Lake Huron area. If the June & July above average rainfall continues thru August, these two factors will cause the present, or higher, levels to continue. If present levels continue thru the winter, many shore properties will be damaged by ice. Ice pressure, due to the expansion of the ice field, will uproot hundreds of trees.

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange

Meets with Wilson Grange August 12.

It will be called to order at 8:00 p.m. Pot Luck supper after the meeting.

A. J. Wangeman Killed By Auto

WAS FORMER RESIDENT NEAR EAST JORDAN

Alfred J. Wangeman, 44, of Lansing, was killed and his wife and daughter injured Tuesday morning when their automobile glanced off a truck and skidded against a tree beside US16 about five miles east of Cascade.

Mrs. Margaret Wageman, 38, was was thrown from the car as it hit the tree, suffered a right leg fractures and possible internal injuries. She was reported in serious condition at Butterworth hospital. The couple's daughter Carol, 12, suffered minor head injuries and a nose fracture and was reported in good condition.

Dr. James C. Humphrey, medical examiner, attributed Wangeman's death to a skull fracture.

Officers said Wageman's car, goin west on US16, glanced off the left front fender and bumper of a westbound Kent county road commission truck and skidded sidewise along the highway and shoulder about 50 feet, hitting a tree. Wangeman was pinned in the wrecked auto.

Wangeman, building construction superintendent for the state, was enroute to Grand Rapids. He had been a state employee since his discharge from the army, in which he served five years, in 1945.

He was a native of East Jordan and had been a Lansing resident the last seven years. Following graduation in 1931 from the University of Michigan, he had been employed by the civilian works administration, the civilian construction corps and works progress administration of the federal government.

Funeral services are being held this Thursday afternoon at the Estes Funeral Home, Lansing.

He graducted from the East Jordan High School with the Class of 1924.

HOMEMAKERS REPORT THE HIGHLIGHTS OF ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Hands-across-the-border is a habit with Michigan home demonstration group women. At Homemakers' Conference held recently at Michigan State College, they continued their custom by voting to send $200 to Okinawa to assist college girls there to continue their home economics education.

Miss Eleanor Densmore, Kent county home demonstration agent, who has been in Okinawa for the past year, gave a report to the 1,400 women gathered for the 25th annual conference. She encouraged their assistance at the University of the Ryukus where she will return in late August to continue her work for another year. She is part of a five-person mission in Okinawa from Michigan State College.

As part of their international mindedness, Mrs. W. S. Hamilton of Jackson, state pen pal chairman, announced that 652 members of Michigan home demonstration groups are writing to women in other counties offering encouragement and, in many cases, food and clothing.

Last year the Michigan Home Demonstration Council financed the visit of a German girl, Ingeborg Timmler, to Michigan for an eight-month visit. Miss Timmler, known now to Michigan as "Inga" —wrote to the women from Schleswig-Holstein province where she is teaching in an agricultural school.

She wrote, "After being home ten days I started work at the same school, but what a difference there is now. In the time I was in Michigan they built a new school. You American people sent Marshall Plan money and our school is partly built from that money. We now have a very modern kitchen with worksaving machines." Inga reported that she had helped to established a 4-H program in Germany and a specialist training system whereby specialists travel throughout the country teaching home economics to German woman.

Too many eye witnesses usually confuse the story.

Every year seems to produce a larger number of pretty young things.

Michigan voters who practiced at the polls Tuesday will have an even bigger job in November.

For Michigan is a key state in the strategy of both the Republican and Democratic camps.

The Eisenhower forces plan to win the Presidental election by carrying the states that went for Dewey in 1948 and the extra ones that now have Republican governors.

Michigan lined up in the 16 Dewey states to give the Michigan-born governor 186 electoral votes. The states that didn't go for Dewey but did elect GOP governors in the last state elections have 102 electoral votes.

Add those two groups together and you get 288 electoral votes. Two hundred sixty-six mean election.

Michigan figures in the Democratic strategy as one of the eight states where big-city labor strength this dominant. Those states, they figure, will give Stevenson 199 electoral votes.

The rock-ribbed South-which the Dixicrat revolt failed to crack —and the border states should yield 80 electoral votes for a total of 279, 13 more than are needed. So they figure.

That Michigan has a Democratic governor is heralded as a good omen by Adlai's advisors, too.

Obviously there's some overlapping there.

Both parties need Michigan, California, Wisconsin, New York and Maryland to carry out their master plan.

For instance, Ike-men will try to crack the South and aim for shaky Democratice states. The Democrats will try to woo back states-rights areas Truman lost and to retain eight Western states where they've won five consecutive times but whose electoral vots aren't plentiful enough to give them key positions.

Michigan personalities are sure to figure prominently in the campaign, too.

Flint's Arthur E. Summerfield, as chairman of the Republican National Committee, will direct General Ike's overall campaign. Arthur H. Vandenburg Jr., taught the lore of the political arena by his late father, the illustrious Senator, is Eisenhower's executive assistant.

Both were pre-bandwagon Ike supporters, a status that adds to their influence.

Two Michigan men were ofter in the spotlight at the Democratic convention. They were Governor Williams and Senator Blair Moody.

Williams' polka-dot bow tie was familiar long before the demonstration that greeted his favorite-son nomination. Moody practically took over the temporary chairman's job during the opening debate on the "loyalty pledge" rule. In fact, it became known as the "Moody amendment".

That pledge was in part nullified when the convention allowed Virginia, South Carolina and Louisana delegates to participate despite their firm refusal to sign on the dotted line.

Whether Michigan jumped from Kefauver to Stevenson early enough is something for which no stop-watch has ever been invented. Whether the ire Moody arroused among several of his Southern Senatorial Colleagues will continue to smolder is not apparent now. Whether the Stevenson-Sparkman combination represents, as many observers believe, a victory of "conservative" Democrats over the "liberals" head by Williams, Moody and Senator Humphrey of Minnesota is a matter of personal opinion.

Answers to those questions may determine the influence the Michigan duo will have in and after the campaign.

But there's no question that their names are familiar in and out of Democratic circles.

And there's no question about the importance of the decision Michigan voters must make in November.

Michigan business is contributing to a campaign which will be launched thus far to bring new industry into the state. The Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan spent a year in analyzing opinions of Michigan manufacturers on the assets and liabilities of the state as a location for industry as a basis for the drive.

Dixie is drawing industry from Northern states. But there's going to be another war between the Blue and the Gray, this one fought out on sales talks to affected industry. The No'the'ners will use three big weapons: Privately-financed developement corporations to augment work done by state agencies such as the Michigan Department of Economic Developement. More intensive promotion, including greater efforts to develope industry from within; A new atmosphere of cooperation with industry in many Northern industrial centers.

Defeat of the proposed 2% industrial processing tax in the closing days of the Legislature in June removed a threat that might have kept many an industry from coming into Michigan or expanding facilities already here.

Probably the most active parade-participant in Michigan this Summer is the colorful float used by all branches of the state's dairy industry. It shows a golden cow on a mound of brilliant green grass and there is an orate throne on which the community's fairest lassy rides.

It was built by the June Dairy Month committee of the American Dairy Association of Michigan and has already been seen by scores of thousands.

Peak of Annual Meteor Shower Due Aug. 10 or 11

EARTH ENCOUNTERS ANNUAL SWARM OF SHOOTING STARS

With many parts of the nation already seeing strange objects in the skies perhaps it's wise to report now that August will bring with it the annual shower of meteors.

Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, reports that the Perseid shower of meteors will reach its peak around the evenings of August 10 or 11.

"The flashes of light from these shooting stars may be seen in any direction of the sky during the peak period," she points out. "But when you trace back their paths, the meteors seem to follow trails that intersect in the northeastern part of the sky where the constellation Perseus rise about 10 p.m. This fact has accounted for the name of this annual display."

The shower of meteors takes place each year when the earth encounters the swarm of shooting stars as each is making its year-long swing around the sun. Entering the earth's atmosphere at a high rate of speed, the bits of iron and stone that make up a meteor are slowed up and the resulting friction sets them burning at such a high temperature that a brilliant flash is produced in the sky.

Most of these meteors burn themselves out when they enter the earth's atmosphere, although a few frequently fall to the ground.

Besides the meteors, the August sky will be dominated by the Milky Way, that vast mass of stars which stretches across the sky from northeast to the south. The long bar of the Northern Cross is practically at the zenith or midpoint, Prof. Losh says, while the constellations of Scorpius and Sagittarius are at the two southern branches.

The bright planet rising in the east around 11 p.m. will be Jupiter. This planet will far outshine all other objects in the sky and will remain conspicuous in the evening sky for the next few manths, Prof. Losh asserts.

"Coming over the horizon at about the same time at a little to the left of Jupiter is the star cluster of the Pleiades," she reports. "Fashioned in the form of a small dipper, six stars are easily seen but if you have exceptionally keen eyesight you may be able to pick up seven or more."

Hundreds of stars may be counted in this cluster on a photograph taken with a large telescope and the entire group, which is 500 light years away, is caught in a net of nebulous material.

After summer fairs and exhibits show stock should be isolated from the home animals for at least 30 days. If the show animals are healthy at the end of this period, they may be put back into the herd.

It won't be long before new television stations begin sprouting up all over the countryside, thus reducing the size of our country once again.

At Our Tourist Park

Our park is a good wet place again this week, but we were all thankful for the lovely Sunday. The shuffle boards were kept busy most of the day, while several picnics and out door meals were enjoyed.

A picnic was enjoyed when the following gathered here — the George Lights of Norwood, Mrs. Motley (Bess) from Florida, Mrs. Grace Sills of Muskegon, Leslie Miles and son Bruce and family of Bellaire, the Jim Johnsons, Mrs. Eva Evans and family, Oscar Light and Alden Collins all of East Jordan.

Last Thursday even fifty-seven park tenants and friends gathered for a pot-luck dinner to honor Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walker of Hart who were recently married and are living in our park. After the lively meal we enjoyed a short program consisting of a very cute reading entitled Husband's by little Susan Garrison of Davison, and two accordian selections by Ruby Lemon, and an appropriate reading by Meta Robinson, a lovely gift was presented the couple in behalf of the group, also a corsage to the bride. Mrs. J. Meredith, our former caretaker, Jim Weisler, life guard, the Mark Carstens and a friend of the groom, Dean Slogle were guests from outside of the park. We extend our congratulations, and best wishes to our newlyweds.

There were sixteen girls accompanied by their chaperones, Mrs. Theo. Guillaume and Charles Sallwasser. Two of their canoes were caught in the swollen current, and were upset, and girls and equipment were thrown into the water, they finally arrived in the park six hours behind schedule. From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

Well, What Do You Know?

Do you believe in a bunch of old tales about lightning — about how it's attracted by cats or the warmth of cattle . . . how it never strikes in the same place twice . . . or how it's liable to turn milk sour? Lots of people often do—but they're wrong.

Dad Hawkins inspired this column today. He's really studied up on lightning since his own cow barn was struck that time.

"Trouble is, most of us don't know half enough about the subject," Dad says. "And about half of what we do know is false!"

From where I sit, Dad's statement applies to a lot of things besides lightning. Too many people think they know their neighbor's wrong when he votes for his candidate instead of theirs. Some people even resent our right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer if and when we choose. Opinions based on misinformation and prejudice, instead of being "grounded" on true facts can cause more damage than lightning ever did.

Forest Fires at A Low Ebb.

The smallest weekly forest fires toll since the hazard period started last spring, two blazes damaging five acres, is disclosed by the conservation department.

Latest fire report shows no fires, for the first time in the 1952 hazard season, anywhere above the Bay City-Muskegon line. With much rain, especially in the north, state forest firemen had to put only two fires in the southwestern Plainwell district.

So far this year 899 fires have burned over 5,276 acres.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

Our hot weather has caught cold. We had a heavy rain last night that turned into a cold drizzle today and well succeeded in dampening many a tourist enthusiasm for swimming or lawn tennis.

Bob Vrondron was home on leave last week from Fitzsimmons. He didn't get in to see me but his mother told me today that he was expecting to be discharged in about two more months. Bob went back to the same address, which is Col. Robert E. Vrondron, Upper West, Fitzsimmins Gereral Hospital, Denver, Colorado. I'm sure he'd be glad to hear from some of you men.

Delwin Morris dropped me a card from Fort Devens to give me asmall change in his and Delwins address. It is: Pvts Darwin & Delwin Morris, Co. B, Student Bn, TASATR, 8622 AAU, Fort Devens, Massachusetts. Delwin went on to say, "We are in our third week of school now but can't tell anything about our school or what we do while we are there. We get up at 3:45 a.m., go to school from 6 a.m. to noon and then in the afternoon if there aren't any details we just sleep, go swimming or anything we want to do. When we first got back here. Brock Peacock came and hunted us up one evening and showed us around the camp in his new Chevrolet. Well, it's almost chow time so will close for this time. Anyway we both like our school real well." Thanks for the card, Delwin.

A letter from George Rogers reads, "Here is a smaller address you can use. It isn't so complicated. SFC Alfred G. Rogers, Jr., RA 16 084 387, PO Box 261, Milledgeville, Georgia.

'This is the kind of a job I have been sweating out for over 10 years now. This is a civilian component duty. I applied for for the orders were waiting for me when we came back from the last leave at home. I am to be an instructor here and the cadets I am to teach are of junior college age. However, school doesn't start until September so now we just have paper work to get out and a few requisitions to make up.

'Here at the school we have 2 officers and 4 enlisted men, just a small outfit. I will be able to tell you more later on what kind of a deal it is."

It looks like you've struck it soft, George. I can't say as I can blame you for being happy over it.

Johnny Kershner has left the West Coast and is again with us in the midwest. His new address is A/2C John M. Kershner, 16-333-955, 3310th Tech Tng Gp, Scott AFB, Illinois. In case you're looking for someone from home, John, Ross Nichols can be reached by dropping a card to Post Office Box 445 there at Scott and Lawrence Streeter is still with the 3317 Stu Sqd, Box N3131. Either one of these men, in case you don't already know them, would be glad to make your acquaintance as another man from good old E.J.

Tom Leu had to leave again this last Wednesday, his 10 day leave being just about up. Instead of going back to Edwards AFB in California though he is to report to Lowry, AFB in Colorado where Russell Fyan and Louis Addis are currently in residence. I gave Tom both of your addresses so you may be hearing from him soon. Tom is slated to take a 16 week Weapons Officer course at Lowry after which he will be returned to Ed wards in California for further research duty.

Sam Persons was a mighty disapointed young man this past week. He went down to Detroit for examination for the Army and found that he was a half a finger short. You see Sam had a run-in with a dynamite cap back in '45 and it left him short two and a half fingers on one hand. Well, the Army says that they won't take anyone with over two fingers missing on any one hand. Sam felt pretty bad about it but I guess that's Army Regulations for you. They don't make exceptions for anyone — regardless of how sincere they may be.

Here's another article about Bruce Bolser and his ship the USS James C. Owens. We just had one about them last week but I guess the Home Town News Center in Great Lakes is just catching up on some of their back work. Here 'tis: "Destroyer Division 261, on the last lap of its world cruise, which began last January, will return to the United States via the Mediterranean Sea and the Suez Canal. Serving with the division aboard the destroyer USS James C. Owens is Bruce E. Bolser, gunners mate seaman, USN. The Owens entered the Korean combat zone in March. While serving with Task Force 77 there, she bombarded the east coast of North Korea and acted as a screening unit. Crew members of the destroyer have visited Panama, Pearl Harbor, Midway Island and Japan. On her return trip the crew will visit the colony of Singapore."

Bruce, if you get this paper entering the Mediterranean keep a watch out for the USS Diamondhead, and the USS Acilla. Fred Burbank in "C" Division aboard the Diamondheaad and Joe Hammond in the 4th Division aboard the Aucilla are supposed to be in the Mediterrean somewhere. Who knows you men might see each other over there.

Here's some news about two men, who although not fully in the service as yet, wil undoubtedly enter the service when they have finished their college and ROTC courses. Bill Kamradt has been taking ROTC training down and Fort Knox, Kentucky. Recently he has been working with the new Patton '48 tank and firing the 90 millimeter gun aboard it. Bill did right well too and made Expert on this 90 mm on the range. Jim Nachazel is at present taking flight training down in Corpus Christi, Texas. His training includes the actual flying of the huge PBM "Martin Marier", a Navy twin-engine flying boat. Jim will also receive special instruction in the operation of a Fluxgate compass.

I suppose you men noticed the article in last weeks paper about the new men being inducted from this county on this Wednesday. Among them was the name of Jim Lewis. While I don't have an address for Jim as yet I'll be watching for one to pass on to you men.

So Long until next week.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

The fair premium books for the Charlevoix county fair which will be held September 2 to 6 are now ready for distribution, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today. These premium books may be obtained by stopping at any of the farmers coops in the county or by stopping at the County Extension Office at Boyne City and picking them up.

Farmers who are interested in bringing catle to the fair are reminded that animals over 12 months must be Bangs tested and any hogs brought to the fair must be vacciniated. If anyone is planning on bringing cattle or hogs to the fair, please let Ed Rebman know so that arrangements can be made for Bangs testing and vaccination.

Good barn arrangements can reduce the man hours required to care for a dairy animal as much as 50 hours per year, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Less time per animal is required on an average in the loose system as compared to the stanchion barn. However, in a well-arranged stanchion barn a good operator may spend less time in caring for the animals than an operator of a loose housing system where feeding arrangements are poor.

Good barn arrangement includes proper location of the silo and grain storage in relation to feed areas, Rebman points out. In the stanchion barn, feed grain and silage with a cart. Have the feed alleys and doorways wide enough to permit one trip feeding. Back tracking with the feed cart and loading silage into cart by hand, instead of running the cart under the silo chute, requires extra time and energy.

Hay self-feeders are the quickest and easiest way to feed hay. However, another hole in the hay mow floor over the feed area may save a lot of carrying when hay feeding time comes.

Locate the milkhouse as close to the milking area as possible. One corner of the barn is generally a good location for the milkhouse.

A lot of planning should go into the remodeling of a barn before the saw and hammer start to work. Sketch out all the possibilities of remodeling a barn. Then select the best layout, Rebman suggests.

Home-grown lumber, homemade stalls, homemade stanchions, portable gates for pens, and farm labor can keep remodeling costs to a minimum, the agricultural agent says.

A beef tour has been planned for all the members who are raising beef calves for the Charlevoix County Fair, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today. This tour will be held next Monday afternoon, August 11 starting at 1:00 p.m.

The first stop will be at the farm of Archie Murphy at East Jordan at which time considerable discussion will be held regarding fitting and showing of the animal, feeding and care of the animal and other points that are pertinent to good success at the show. Other stops during the afternoon will be at the Shank boys, Jack Zouleks, Donna Schroeders, and Jim Behlings.

PREPARE YOUTH TO MEET GOD

Teach Youth to Attend Church

At all times and in all ages the church has been a strong and mighty battle station against sin and moral decay.

Through its arches and epses and naves has constantly rung the battle cry of soldiers of the cross.

On its aler has always been found the greatest arsenal of sacred ammunition ever entrusted to any race or to any people—The Holy Bible.

The banner of righteousness has flown steadily from the fixed redoubts of quaint and quiet community churches and impressive city edifices alike.

The torch of truth and salvation has been carried with flaming zeal to dismal outposts in distant and strange lands by self-effacing vanguards.

The churches stirring hymns, its reverent litany, its jeweled creed, its holy festivals — all have powerful weapons in the hands of purposeful men determined to see that right makes might. From its pulpit parapets have been sounded continual and courageous challenges to the forces of evil. Truly, the church today is a mighty fortress in the defense of decency.
